

Momentis is a new MLM opportunity that has been launched as the marketing arm of Just Energy, a successful multi-billion-dollar company currently operating in the US and Canada. As the deregulation of electricity and natural gas takes place in both countries, this new company is set to offer consumers an additional choice, as well as provide a potential income from promoting the products to others. The company has support offices for independent representatives in both Toronto, Ontario and Dallas, Texas.

Momentis energy

Momentis is currently setting up in 5 Canadian provinces and 13 US states where deregulation is occurring. Customers in these areas can change to Just Energy for electricity and natural gas with no disruption; very similar to changing a home telephone provider or long distance carrier, with no fee or extra charges. Customers under a current contract are advised to allow it to expire first to avoid early termination penalties. Individuals outside of the deregulated areas can join as independent representatives to sign up new customers in the Just Energy serviced markets and build a team of distributors under them to do the same.

Momentis reviews

The cost to join Momentis as an independent representative is $299 during the launch phase and will increase to $399 in the future. There is an annual renewal fee of $99 for the MLM opportunity and a $19.95 charge per month after one year, for a customer management tool called the M-Center. Included is a company site that can be personalized for promoting online.

Momentis scam

As distributors sign up Just Energy customers and sponsor downline recruits they will earn a small commission off of the monthly bills in their team. The compensation plan provides 5 ways to earn income; momentum immediate bonuses, mentor bonuses, myleadership bonuses, and monthly recurring income.

Distributors will earn from $.50 to $2.00 on customer bills in their team and are paid on lower levels in the compensation plan as they continue to personally sponsor recruits.

The Momentis opportunity is a legitimate MLM business providing independent representatives the potential for residual income. However, a large amount of recruiting will be required to build a team that will produce significant earnings, based on the small commissions.

As in any network marketing company distributors must be aware of the need for a consistent long term effort if they are to realize any success. It is also necessary for distributors to have a knowledge of online marketing and understand how to brand themselves as leaders using the internet.